2 tsp ground ginger	1 egg
1 tsp bicarbonate of soda	200ml (7fl oz) milk

Preheat oven to 150°C/300°F/gas mark 2. Line a 20cm/8in cake tin with greaseproof paper.

Sieve the flour, sugar, ginger and bicarbonate of soda into a bowl. In a small pan, heat the butter and syrup until melted. Beat the egg into the milk.

Gradually pour the butter and syrup into the flour mixture and stir well. Pour the egg and milk in and combine until smooth.

Pour into the lined tin and bake for 1 hour. Cut into squares.

One pinch of salt and one of cayenne pepper	1 large egg beaten
½ heaped tsp mustard powder

Preheat oven to 180°C/gas mark 4. Briefly process all the ingredients, except the egg, in a food processor, then pulse in short bursts, when the mixture comes together. Once the mixture is clumpy knead it on a lightly floured surface until well blended and smooth. Wrap in cling film and chill in the fridge for at least 30 minutes.

On a lightly floured surface roll out the pastry to about 2mm thickness. Using a 3-5cm pastry cutter, cut out biscuits and place on a greased a baking tray 2cm apart. Brush the surface of each biscuit with beaten egg and sprinkle with parmesan cheese. Bake for about 10 minutes. Cool on a rack.
